- Last year I saw a ghost.

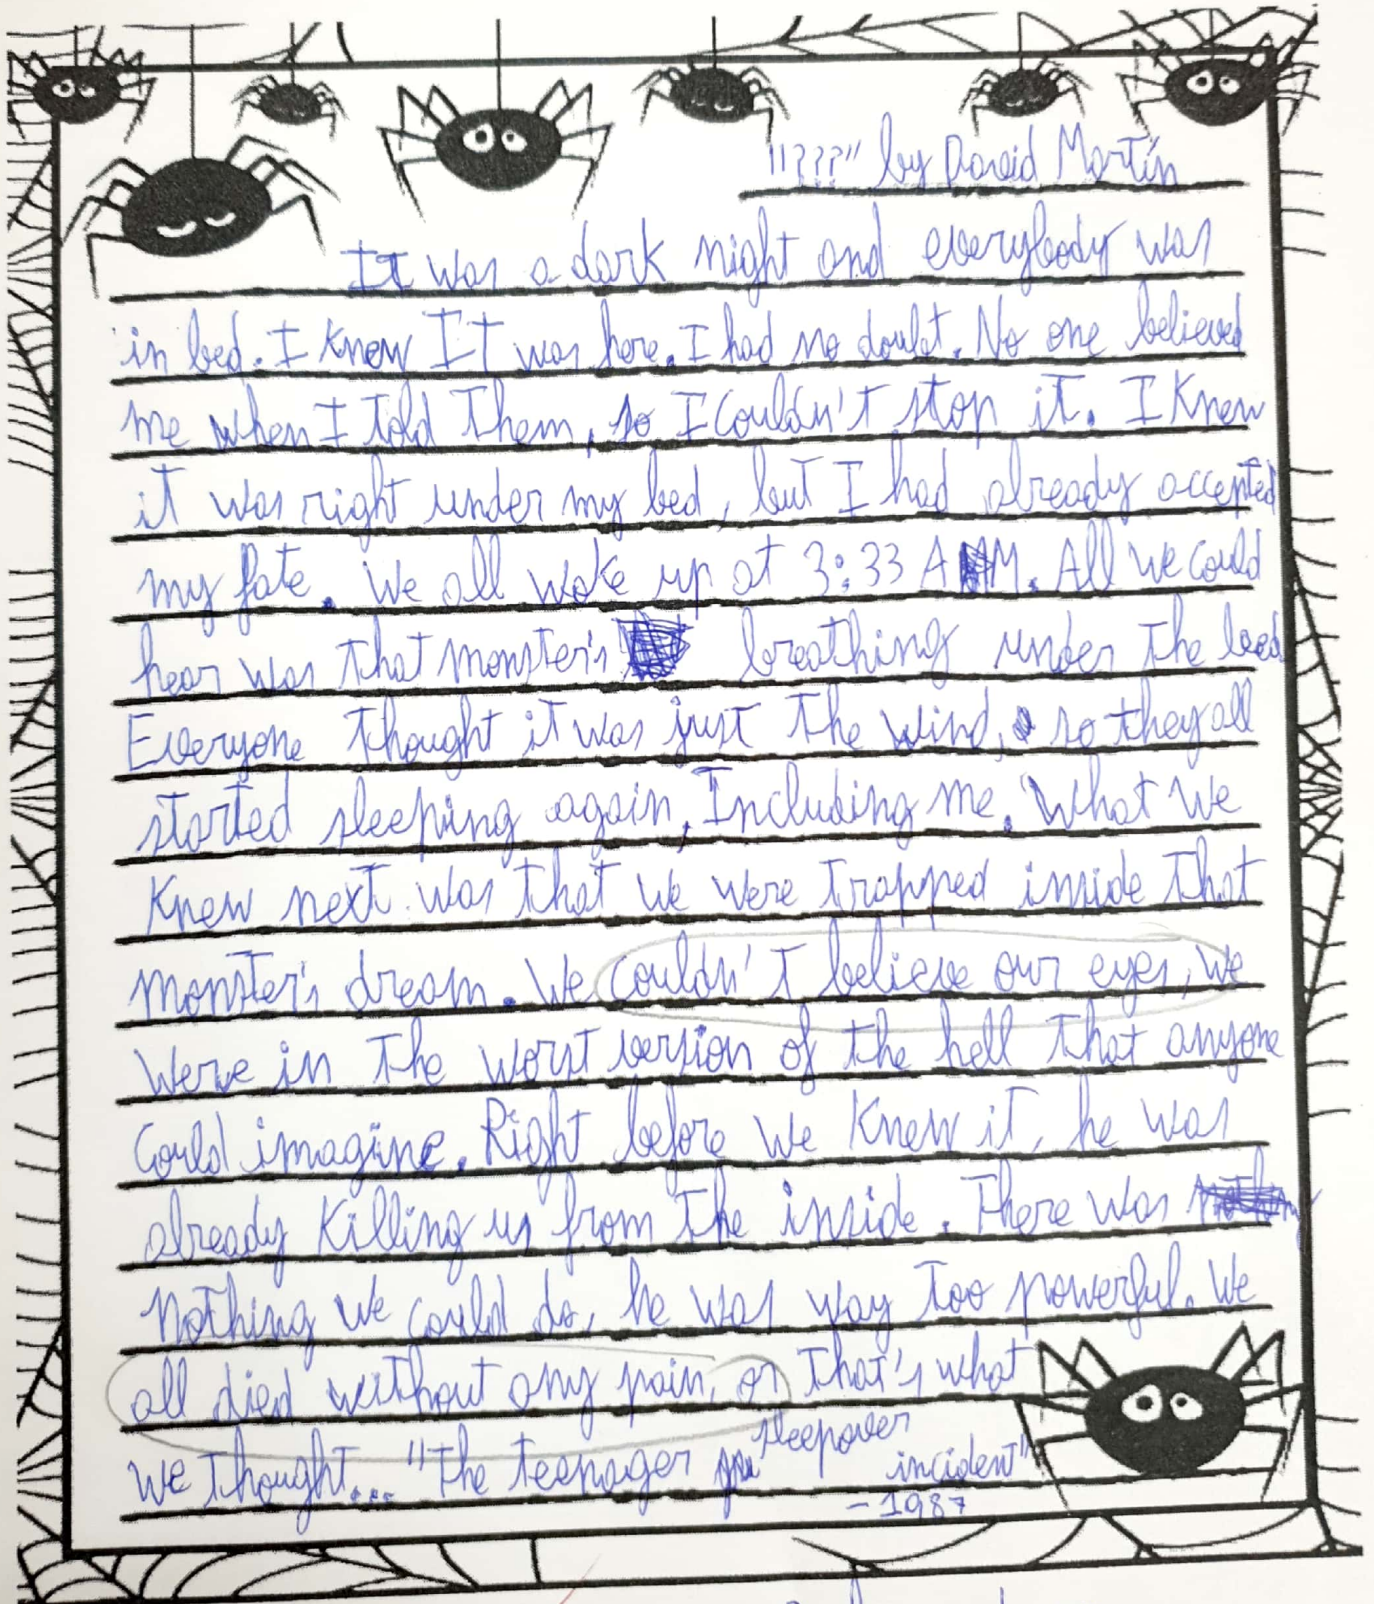

I opened my eyes with difficulty, they hurt, they were heavy, I just wanted to close them. I didn't remember much, not to say I didn't remember anything. My mind was spinning in a room that wasn't mine and a bright white light didn't let me see beyond. I started to panic when I realised that I was completely naked and covered by a thin sheet. I noticed that someone was moving around me, then the figure stopped and stood by my side: a man. I couldn't see his face, only that something gleamed in his hand. I wanted to scream, to defend myself but I couldn't move a muscle. The weapon began to move towards me, towards my skin. He was going to kill me, I was going to die. I joined all my forces and I managed to move my head. Then he looked terrified, he took some steps back and the knife fell to the ground. He called a a number quickly, soon another man answered:

- Hey? yes, I'm the forensic surgeon... we have someone alive in the morgue.

"???" by David Martín

It was a dark night and everybody was in bed. I knew it was here. I had no doubt. No one believed me when I told them, so I couldn't stop it. I knew it was right under my bed, but I had already accepted my fate. We all woke up at 3:33 AM. All we could hear was that monster's ~~breathing~~ breathing under the bed. Everyone thought it was just the wind, so they all started sleeping again, including me. What we knew next was that we were trapped inside that monster's dream. We couldn't believe our eyes, we were in the worst version of the hell that anyone could imagine. Right before we knew it, he was already killing us from the inside. There was ~~nothing~~ nothing we could do, he was way too powerful. We all died without any pain, or that's what we thought... "The teenager <sup>sleeper</sup> incident" - 1987

The wait was finally over, and I was eager to meet my friends that night of October 31st. We'd go out and have some fun at a Halloween party. I decided to go for a black, tight dress. When I arrived at the place where the party was thrown and greeted my group of friends. We enjoyed a lot, dancing to the music and laughing continuously. Then my friend Anne needed to go to use the toilet, <sup>so</sup> I went ~~of~~ with her because I didn't want her to go all by herself, and I wanted to check my my lipstick in the bathroom mirror.

It was hard to go through <sup>ugh</sup> the crowd, everyone was dancing and moving around. I even got pushed. I turned my head to ~~see~~ shout something to them, ~~and~~ and and I hear a strange noise. I wander around the house wondering what made that sound, but I don't find the source. I decide to go to the basement although it is the creepiest place of the house.

Already there, I hear the sound again. It sounds like a door with rusted hinges. As I am ~~as~~ towards, I think of going up to my room and call my mother. When my mother appears in front of me. And as she came, she went out of thin air.
