Murder Mystery

It was a dark night and everybody was in bed. As usually I would fall asleep listening to the cars on the road and identifying the motors of each one. My wife, Celine would close the window so I don't wake up from the cold of the night. She has been doing that for four years now, since we moved in together. At first, I had a bad feeling about her. I had never seen her at night so I decided to set up cameras to watch what she does when I'm asleep. I went to sleep and the next morning I saw the footage. She finished washing the dishes and went to the kids' room and white fungus left their bodies and entered celine's mouth. She was inhaling their souls. Then she entered our bedroom. The window closed shut in a sudden movement, she wasn't even close to it. I was shocked, then she took off her skin suit, crawled up the bloody wall and layed in the spiderweb. She had me trapped.
