

Christmas in the U.S.

Santa and his Elves

In the United States, we believe in Santa Claus, who lives at the North Pole. His elves make presents for all of the good boys and girls on Santa's list. His reindeers fly his sleigh.

Decorations

First, we cut a tree. Then, we decorate the tree and hang our stockings above the fireplace.

Decorations

We also put a lot of decorations outside of our houses!

Other Traditions

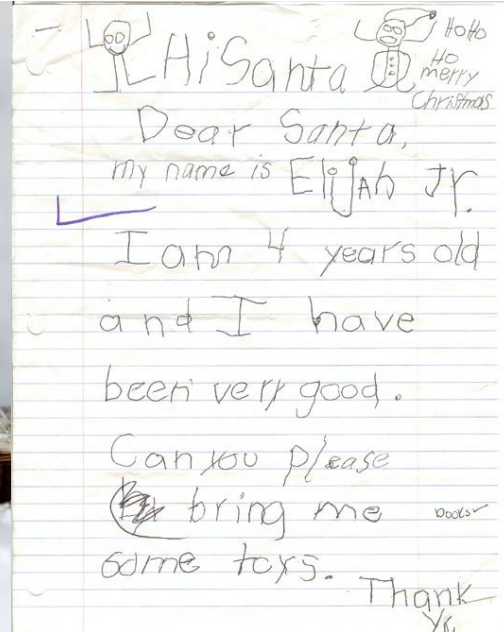

Caroling door to door

Sugar cookies, 'snowballs,' and gingerbread

Letters to Santa

Christmas Eve

We set out cookies and milk for Santa and a carrot for Santa's reindeer, and we have a big dinner with family.

Santa Claus comes!

Santa flies on his sleigh with his reindeer, including Rudolph, and then he comes down our chimneys!

Christmas Day

Families open their presents together and everyone eats a big breakfast and dinner.

Some families go to church.

How is Christmas different in the U.S. and Spain?
